Me ma mo aha! Konnichiwa! (in Japanese)

The Embassy of Japan in Ghana observes every first week of November each year as a JAPAN WEEK. This is because the 3rd of November is a cultural holiday in Japan. Every year, the Embassy of Japan in Ghana organizes some cultural programmes. This year, St.Peter's Students participated in the following programmes.

Japan Week's Events

Yosakoi Festival in Accra

On the 10th of November, St.Peter's Senior High School students performed the Yosakoi dance on the 17th Edition of the Japanese Yosakoi festival celebrated in Accra. The students danced with Japanese song; Soran bushi and some Ghanaian songs. We couldn't get any award. However, one of the Japanese TV programmes reported their performance. It was a specterculer performance. Conglaturations! Omedeto !! (in Japanese)

On Japanese TV programme!

Dance Exchange Programme

On the 13th of November, Mr. Takanori Nakagome who is a professional Hip Hop dancer came to St.Peter's Senior High School and he had a dance exchange programme. This programme was held in order to connect children in Japan, Africa and the world through "Dance and Internet". St.Peter's students danced with Ghanaian music while Japanese students also danced with Japanese music. It was a good interactive communication programme.

Atomic Bomb Workshop

On the 2nd of November, I had a workshop on Atomic Bomb in Hiroshima and Nagasaki with my colleagues; JICA(Japan International Cooperation Agency) Volunteers and Mr.Francis Mensah(A Social Studies Teacher in St.Peter's SHS) saved as a facilitator in the Multipurpose Hall of St.Peter's SHS. The aim of this programme is to think of how to promote world peace. We explained what atomic bomb was and how terrible it could be. After that, students discussed about world peace.
